

TIGERS BATTLE WAY TO ANOTHER VICTORY

Yellow Jackets Put Up Game Fight, but Fall Before Line-Smashing Assaults of Opponents—Ashlanders Do Much Fumbling—Riddick Stars—Score, 33 to 0.

Standing of Clubs.
 Hampden-Sidney..... 3 1 1000
 Richmond College..... 2 1 967
 William and Mary..... 1 2 333
 Randolph-Macon..... 0 3 000

Hampden-Sidney's football team kept its record, of not having been scored upon since the Eastern Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Association opened its season, unblemished yesterday afternoon, when the Farmville aggregation downed the Randolph-Macon Yellow Jackets by a score of 33 to 0.

Again the Tigers outscored their opponents, and scored almost at will by ripping the "Yellow Jackets" line to pieces throughout the game. That the Hampden-Sidney team scored consistently can be seen by the fact that the Tigers put over one or more touchdowns in every quarter of the game.

The fact that Randolph-Macon lost does not mean that it was outclassed, for the Jackets put up a hard fight all the way through, and at times showed flashes of form that has characterized them as being one of the most dangerous teams in the Eastern division. However, the Tigers were much heavier and Randolph-Macon's line was forced to crumble before the heavy battering of the Hampden-Sidney backs.

Graham, Parrish and D. Warren, who constituted the back field of the Farmville aggregation, battered their way through the opponents' line at times almost at will, while Parrish and Graham also pulled off some end runs for long gains.

The Tigers were minus the services of Jim Warren, their captain, and naturally their playing was off color as compared with the form displayed by them in the Richmond College game. D. Warren, who filled his brother's place, has been playing end, and made several costly fumbles. This occurred in the initial quarter, however, and, once he found himself, he gave a great exhibition.

The contest opened with Randolph-Macon kicking to the Tigers. Riddick kicked, and the oval was returned fifteen yards. Parrish made five yards through the line on a plunge, after which the Tigers began to kick. The Tigers lost the ball on a fumble, Riddick recovering for the Yellow Jackets.

Line-Smashing Tactics.
 Riddick made eight yards on an end run, but Smoot was thrown for a loss, and the Jackets were forced to kick. Riddick kicked to Jones, who made a short return, and the Tigers began to smash the Jackets' line. Parrish and Graham made four and eight yards, respectively, but Jones fumbled, and Randolph-Macon recovered the ball. Riddick was thrown for a loss and forced to kick. Copley was called the Tiger back before he had a chance to advance.

Parrish pulled a long end run which netted twenty-five yards, but again he was stopped by the Jackets' line. Finding it impossible to gain through the strong defense put up by the Jackets, Parrish was forced to kick, and once more the Tigers started their march to the Jackets' goal.

Hampden-Sidney resorted to straight line tactics, and began to break the football as a whole, bringing the Jackets' line to pieces. With the result that they were soon in the shadow of Randolph-Macon's goal. Parrish was sent over the top of the first touchdown of the game on an end run. Ferguson kicked the goal.

Hampden-Sidney received again. Riddick kicked. The ball was returned only a short distance, but the Jackets tried a line plunge, but Gill caught Jones behind the line with a hard tackle and the Tigers were forced to kick. Riddick returned the ball twenty yards, but here the Jackets fumbled on their own twenty-yard line and D. Warren grabbed up the oval and sprinted for a touchdown. Ferguson missed the try at goal, there was no more scoring in this quarter. The ball searowed from one end of the field to the other, but when the period ended, it was in Randolph-Macon's possession on her own fifteen-yard line.

Coach Reis, of the Jackets, sent in some substitutes at the opening of the second quarter with instructions to resort to the aerial attack as a means of advancing the ball. Several line plays and end runs were tried, and then the Jackets began to open up their forward passing. Smoot and Riddick combined to pass, but very little ground was gained, and the Jackets were forced to kick. Riddick booted a beautiful spiral to the side line and just out of reach of the Hampden-Sidney backs.

Jackets Brace and Take Ball.
 Hampden-Sidney once again began their line-smashing tactics and, mixed in with an end run now and then, were able to advance the oval nearer the Jackets' goal, but here the Randolph-Macon team braced, and the Tigers lost the ball on downs. Riddick kicked again, but the Tigers soon brought the ball back to the former position and, after several tries, the line had failed. Parrish was soon sent over again. Ferguson kicked the goal. This was the last scoring done in this quarter, and the first half ended with the ball in Randolph-Macon's possession in mid-field.

Randolph-Macon's playing seemed to progress as the game went along, and, although they were not able to do so, and never once gave up. As was the case in the second quarter, the Jackets resorted to the use of the forward pass as a means of gaining ground, once the last half had opened, the teams battled up and down the field, until finally the Tigers got possession of the ball and battled their way to a touchdown, when Graham was shoved through the left side of the Jackets' line for the fourth touchdown of the game. Ferguson kicked his third goal from touchdown.

This was all the scoring done in the third quarter, although Smoot showed a forward pass square into the hand of Ferguson, and he romped thirty yards for a touchdown, only to be called back because the referee detected holding in the Tigers' line. The Jackets were in possession of the ball when the period ended.

The Tigers scored again in the final stanza. The Jackets kicked off, and Hampden-Sidney immediately began a march on their opponents' goal line. Parrish, Graham, Warren and Jones were used to smash their way to another touchdown, and finally Graham was sent over for the last touchdown.

Riddick Individual Star.
 To Riddick, the diminutive quarterback of the Jackets, goes the honor of being the star of the afternoon, for his playing was head and shoulders above that of any other man on the field.

His great offensive work was practically what kept the Jackets together throughout the fracas. Playing under great odds, he bore the brunt of the battle for the Jackets and gained more ground than the rest of the backfield combined. His punting was of the highest order. He not only got off several long kicks, but his punting also was good. Gill, Simms and Caldwell were the stars for Randolph-Macon on the defensive, and each made several sensational tackles.

Hampden-Sidney's entire team played together wonderfully, and to name a star would be unfair to the other members of the team, but the work of the backfield deserves special mention. Parrish and Graham divided the honors in this department, for they were called upon to advance the ball more than the other members of the backfield.

The contest was remarkably free from roughness, and not a penalty was made necessary on this account. This feature has characterized the other games played this season between teams of the Eastern Virginia division. By winning yesterday's contest, the Tigers only need to win from the Richmond College Spiders on next Saturday afternoon and they practically will have the championship of the Eastern division clinched.

Cornell Harriers Win.
 ITHACA, N. Y., November 3.—Cornell won the cross-country race this afternoon with a score of 44 points. Pennsylvania was second, with 75, and Carnegie third, with 160.

Harvard's 1917 Star
 Stillman, the Harvard football player, who has been looming up in practice and promises to be one of the Princeton stars of the year.

Fair Sex Makes Progress in Sporting World

Are women the equal of men in sports? It begins to appear that they not only are, but that many of them are superior. Mrs. W. A. Cavin, the well-known woman amateur golf player, recently demonstrated the fact that women are the equal of men in that particular sport, by defeating Jerome D. Travers, one of the most remarkable link artists the game has ever produced.

Miss Lucy Freeman, a nineteen-year-old Brooklyn girl, recently accomplished what a score of men had attempted and failed at—the swim from Spuyten Duyvil to the Battery. In the Hudson river, Miss Freeman covered fifteen miles in 3 hours, 59 minutes, 22.25 seconds. Little need be said about Miss Molly Burdett, the marvelous Norwegian tennis champion, who has swept all before her on American tennis courts. Miss Ruth Law, the famous little aviatrix, is another who holds a record no man has yet been able to equal. She flew from Chicago to New York in an obsolete type of aeroplane, making the longest nonstop flight ever made in the United States.

JOHN MARSHALL LOSES
 STAUNTON MILITARY TEAM EASILY TROUNCES LOCALS

Heavy Academy Eleven Batters Way Through Richmonders at Frequent Intervals—Score 75 to 0.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
 STAUNTON, VA., November 3.—Staunton Military Academy continued its winning streak by defeating John Marshall High School of Richmond, on the local gridiron this afternoon. The score of 75 to 0. The Richmond boys were too light to resist the onslaught of the Staunton team, but their playing was excellent. They were particularly skillful in tackling, and their blocking of forward passes showed good knowledge of the game.

In the first quarter, Waters made a touchdown and Rushing kicked goal. Then Houser made two touchdowns and Rushing kicked another goal. In the second quarter, Waters made a touchdown and Stacey kicked goal, making the count 27 to 0 at the end of the first half.

John Marshall has the honor of playing the local field this season. The visitors showed lack of training in catching the ball. Several opportunities to score were lost in the third quarter by bad fumbles.

LOCAL SOCCER TEAMS MEET CAMP LEE TEAM TO-DAY
 Richmond Players Expect Hard Battle With Soldiers of Company G, 310th Infantry.

The Richmond soccer players will tackle the Camp Lee team this afternoon in Petersburg at 3:45 o'clock, and, judging from the advance word from the rival camps, the contest should prove to be a thriller from start to finish.

Richmond's team is composed of men who have played together for the last three years, but they are not overconfident, as they realize that to overcome the Camp Lee team will be no small achievement. The Camp Lee team is composed of men who have had wide experience, having played soccer on some of the leading teams in the North. The locals, however, are a game bunch and one that does not give up until the game is over.

The Camp Lee team which will meet the locals is known as the Company G, 310th Infantry Regiment, and it is said that they have the strongest aggregation in camp.

VIRGINIA TECH ELEVEN WINS FROM WAKE FOREST

Shows Complete Reversal of Form, Crushing Opponents Under 50-to-0 Score.

GENE BOCK FEATURES GAME
 Gets Chance After Long Wait and Romps Merely Through Down Homers—Roden, Parrish, Younger, Crisp and Peyton Also Star.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
 BLACKSBURG, VA., November 3.—Virginia Tech ran rings around Wake Forest here today and crushed their opponents by the weighty score of 50 to 0. Tech showed a complete reversal of form over their game with Georgetown last Saturday, and two first downs were all the Carolinians were able to register against them.

The big feature man of today's game was Gene Bock, a local boy, who spent most of the time sitting on the side lines, waiting for a chance, and he simply tore the "Down Homers" to pieces. In the fourth quarter his gain around the end netted his team sixty yards, and he cut through the line for thirty-five more.

GEORGIA TECH WINNER OVER VANDERBILT TEAM
 Commodore Line by Largest Tally Ever Recorded Against Eleven Representing Institution.

ATLANTA, GA., November 3.—Georgia Tech's more seasoned brand of football, coupled with brilliant end-running by the locals' back field, proved too much for Vanderbilt here today. The Jackets' defense, which had 83 points and administered the worst defeat ever said to have been recorded against an eleven representing the Nashville institution.

It was Tech's first triumph over the Commodores since 1905, although the two teams had not faced each other for the last twenty years. Starting off with a rush that virtually swept their opponents off their feet, the local team ran up a total of 27 points in the first quarter, and in the second period scored two more touchdowns.

Homsby First Holdout

ROGER HORNSBY
 Roger Hornsby, star shortstop of the St. Louis Cardinals, goes on record as the first baseball holdout for the 1918 season. Hornsby has notified Branch Rickey, president of the club, that he will retire from baseball next year unless he gets a contract for $100,000.

GENERALS WIN HANDILY OVER RICHMOND COLLEGE

Backfield Rips Through Spider Line at Frequent Intervals, Piling Up 43-to-0 Score.

FORWARD PASS ABANDONED
 Local Eleven Forces Opponents to Abandon This Means of Offense. Pitt and Whitte Feature Plucky Fight—Sloan Plays Well.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
 LEXINGTON, VA., November 3.—Depending on straight football during the greater part of the game, Washington and Lee defeated Richmond College here today by a score of 43 to 0. Throughout the contest the Spiders put up a plucky fight, and their work was at times conspicuous, this being particularly true of the playing of Pitt and Captain Whitte, who both played and blue goal was never in serious danger.

The other features of the contest were the steady gains of the Washington and Lee backfield men and the fierce tackling of Bailey, who continued in the game in spite of a broken rib received in the second half. During the fourth quarter the Generals successfully worked the forward pass, but were later forced to give this method up and rely upon line plunges.

Most of the Generals' gains were made through the line, with Raines or Silverstein carrying the ball, but Larkin and Moss frequently whipped around end for long runs.

NOTRE DAME IS WINNER
 HAHN IS THROWN FOR LOSS AT CRITICAL TIME IN GAME

Oliphant Marches Thirty Yards During Last Moments Only to Have Teammate Reverses Setback

WEST POINT, N. Y., November 3.—Notre Dame, flashing the same brilliant attack, terrible line smashing, interlocking defense and brilliant passing, which has characterized all its victories, here defeated the Army this evening, 7 to 2, in one of the hardest fought games staged at West Point.

Coach James Harper brought a team trained to the minute and went through the contest without making a substitution.

Oliphant, the Army captain, never played a harder game. He was thrown for a ten-yard loss at a critical period of the play, after which the Redskins carried the ball forty of the fifty yards the soldiers had rushed it.

The soldiers were starting early. They got their safety at the five-yard line. Oliphant kicked off to Gipe on the five-yard line. Gipe downed in his tracks by L. Strider, a punter from behind the goal line was the only logical thing. It came immediately, and Knight blocked the kick. The ball rolled behind the fence and the Army got a safety. After that both teams resorted to mauling, and the game has been seen on the plains in a decade.

It was an intercepted pass, one which Oliphant wanted to lose to Hahn, but which went to Brady, the turning point of the game. Notre Dame wheeled his big gains into action and started the last quarter with the ball on the Army fifteen-yard line. A smashing line play enabled Brady to wriggle between the tackles and kick a touchdown. Rydzewski kicked goal. After the kickoff, Oliphant began his march down the field, only to be halted by Hahn's throw back.

CHURCH HILL ELEVEN WINS FROM 114TH AERO SQUADRON

W. Bell Romps Twenty Yards Through Heavier Team for Only Score of Battle.

The Church Hill football team defeated the One Hundred and Fourteenth Aero squadron at Byrd Park yesterday by the score of 20 to 0, although outweighed, the Church Hill boys played a fast game, which offset their opponents' beef.

The only score of the game came in the second quarter after successful end runs, which put the Church Hill in a position to score. W. Bell carried the ball over on an end run of twenty yards.

During the second half, the Church Hill team kept their opponents on the defensive most of the time.

The features of the game was the work of the Church Hill's line, and the playing of Perkins, Mays, Newman, and W. Bell, who for the Aero eleven, the work of Captain Breese, Mills, and Blaney was of high order.
